About the Congress

Dear EMIDWORLD Conference delegates,

Meeting you in İstanbul at the EMIDWORLD'24 2nd International Congress on Economics Public Finance Business & Social Sciences was a great pleasure. Altınbaş University hosted the conference, and we had the pleasure of utilizing the university's on-campus facilities and meeting students at almost all sessions of presentations.

It is my pleasure to explain that we received 156 Manuscripts from 36 countries and personally met 222 delegates on the campus. The presentations were completed on consecutive days.

We are planning to organize the next conference in Romania or Moldova and after that, it is the aim of the EMIDWORLD Association to organize the third conference in another country which will be decided next year in Romania or Moldova at the closing session of the conference.

As the conference chairman, I would like to thank both Dr. Kurnaz and Dr. Akıncı and their team for working on all the steps involved in organizing this conference successfully. Special and sincere thanks to all the delegates and attendees of the conference.

On behalf of the EMIDWORLD'24 Association, I wish to see all of you at our next conference to be held in Romania or Moldova.

Yours sincerely,

Organization Committee

Abstract

Students who graduated from relevant departments of universities and want to improve themselves in the field of accounting take the internship start exam and are referred to as candidate accountants if they meet the necessary conditions. While candidate accountants experience various e-learning processes until they become members of the profession, the evaluation of this situation in terms of work and life quality is of great importance for the profession. This study was designed to reveal the effects of candidate accountants' e-learning perceptions on work and life quality. In the pilot study, data were collected from 104 candidate accountants working in Istanbul using a survey method. The data were analyzed in the SPSS 24.0 statistics program using empirical methods. As a result of the study, it was determined that the e-learning perceptions of candidate accountants which constitute the main theme of the accounting profession have an effect on the quality of their work life.
